A BRIEF INTRODUCTION

A passion for live music is a common bond that is shared by the guys from Bad Robot. Beside's having fun & doing what they love, this has been the inspiration behind their decision to form a band. From day one the focus for the Tamworth three piece has been about entertaining people & creating an atmosphere where the audience feels just as involved in the experience as the performers do. They appreciate the importance of winning a crowd over & they attack this by being both musically consistent, & wildly unpredictable. Their formula for success is simple. Play well known songs, combined with a lively stage presence & professional attitude, & fuse it all together with crowd interaction & involvement to create the unforgettable experiences Bad Robot are known for producing. Having the advantage of valuable experience playing in & running working bands, as well as being huge live music fans themselves, Bad Robot know exactly what it takes to produce dynamic, professional entertainment.

With a chemistry that instantly clicked Bad Robot have put together a live package that is cleverly varied & musically fresh. Showcasing songs from a wide range of musical genres and era's. The guy's are introducing punters to something promising that's rarely witnessed in this area. With constant gigging they have created a diverse sound & originality that sets them apart from other acts. They deliver a unique soundtrack of popular & classic songs to get the vibe & the dance floor pumping from the moment they plug in, until the final song rings out & they exit the stage. Bad Robot shows are sure to draw crowds & attract attention.

It's obvious they concentrate on nailing every song they play before being personally wrapped with their own unique style that will keep listeners guessing. Then, they deliver the goods with a fierce intensity & commitment that's attached with no less than 100% effort every time they take the stage.

"We have a clear vision of what we want to bring to the live music scene and are confident in the way we are going about it. We're entertainers & we have a strong passion & determination for what we do & it comes out whenever we get together. We influence & bring out the best in each other and inject it into the music we make & the performance we give. This is the essence of what our band is all about. We're not just another jukebox band churning out safe, predictable, garden variety hits heard time & time again. We challenge ourselves & our audience to push the envelope further & see where the boundaries lie. We are a complete live experience. A package deal. An original, exciting band with plans to shake things up. We want to raise the bar & make a long & lasting impression on the live music scene & all the people involved.....And we'll make a lot of noise & have a lot of fun on the way "
